COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mr. HEIK Swart is a patient in St. Vincent's hospital at Pincher Creek this week.

Mr. Albert Hooper and son of Medicine Hat are on a visit at the home of the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Marcel Dejax, in the Porcupine Hills district.

The Misses Irene Lemire, Lucile Lemire, Joan Corney, Irene Papp and Isobel Papp took a cottage at Water Lakes for a holiday outing this week.

Miss Hazel Blackburn of Calgary and Mrs. Edward Gartside of Cranbrook, BC, paid a visit here the early part of the week to their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Tustian of Nelson, BC, were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Tustian Sr. and renewing old friendships here this week.

Kenny Caswell of Hillcrest was best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents attended by immediate relatives. In the evening upward of 200 guests were present at a reception held in the Olivia Hall. Upon their return from a wedding trip the happy couple will take up residence in Hillcrest.

To the bride was proposed by Kenny Caswell and was responded to by the groom during the breakfast.

Out of town guests present at the wedding were Mrs. J. Bosio, Fernie; Mr. and Mrs. T. Montanaro, Kimberley, BC; Mr. and Mrs. S. Naso, Cranbrook, BC; Mr. J. Clacco, Vancouver, BC; Mrs. B. Robbins and family, Edmontion; Miss H. Gregory and Mr. and Mrs. D. Campo, Calgary.

SPENCE — CURCIO

The rectory of St. Ann's Catholic church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday morning, Aug. 23, when Caroline L. Curcio, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Curcio, Blairmore, became the bride of William Spence, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Spence of Hillcrest. Rev. Dean M. A. Harrington officiated.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father was gowned in a satin floor length dress with sweetheart neckline. Her veil was held in place by a bouquet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses, white lilies and carnations and wore a gold necklace, the gift of her parents.

Miss Stella Bosio of Fernie, B. C., was bridesmaid and chose a sky blue gown of nylon with matching accessories. She carried a sheaf of salmon gladioli.

SHIELD BABY EYES

Even when a baby is old enough for sunbaths, the eyes should be given special protection, say the health authorities. An infant should be shielded from direct rays of the sun until able to move about easily.

Doctors suggest that the baby be placed with feet pointing away from the sun, so that eyebrows and upper lids shield the eyes. It is also a good idea to line the hood of a baby carriage with some dull, preferably dark, material.

A man dropped his cigarette in a couch in the lobby of a hotel. Fire resulted at 3 a.m. and caused the deaths of a number of people.

A mother for the five hundredth time, perhaps, started a fire with coal oil. The fire she started burned to death three children besides herself.

A man dropped a match on a garage floor, walked away and left it. A six-year-old found it and ignited her clothing which resulted in burns that caused her death a few hours later.

A man attempted to sleep and smoke at the same time—result, he set the bed afire, was overcome by smoke and removed in an unconscious state. Only the timely arrival of the fire department saved him from being cremated alive.

Some grown-ups placed some "strike-anywhere" matches on a kitchen table. Two small children acted upon the implied suggestion and carried some to their playhouse, innocently started a fire. Result, little boy burned fatally.

WARN WEATHER TIPS

"Don't demand too much of your body. Take it easy. Don't eat too many heat-producing foods, and your liquid intake should be increased, too."

Medical authorities point out that when warm weather is on the way, special steps should be taken to conserve health.

Wife: "Well, what excuse have you for comin home at this hour of the night?"

Husband: "Well, my dear, I was just playing golf with some friends."

Wife: "What, at 2 a.m.?"

Husband: "Yes, we were using night clubs."

Soil Conservation

THE QUESTION OF SOIL CONSERVATION in Canada has taken on growing importance in recent years. The abundance of good land, and the general high fertility of the soil did not lead those who came to open up the country's great farming areas to think seriously of soil conservation. It is now apparent, however, that to retain the fertility of the soil in many parts of the country is becoming a very grave problem. It is disturbing to contemplate the possibility of many of Canada's rich farming districts some day becoming waste lands, but there is apparently real danger of such a situation occurring if successful methods of soil conservation are not practiced.

Soils Experts Give Warning

At the annual meeting of the soils group of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, held recently at Lethbridge, this problem was discussed at length by leading soils scientists from various parts of the Dominion. Dr. J. L. Doughty of Swift Current, offices in charge of the Dominion Soils Research Laboratory, spoke of the serious situation arising from the reduction of organic matter in the soil, and that this condition had been said to be "sounding the death knell of prairie agriculture". He pointed out also that eighteen per cent. of the nitrogen and twenty per cent. of the organic matter has been lost to the brown soils of the prairies since they were first cultivated. Reasons for these losses were said to be such factors as fallow, hail, frost, rust, insects and new varieties of grains. It was impossible, the group was told, to estimate the single effect of any of these causes.

Is Important To Farmers

P. O. Ripley of the field husbandry section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, spoke of soil erosion, and said that water erosion has become a very serious problem. He recommended that a thorough investigation of soil erosion under varying climatic conditions should be made in locations where the need was evident. Dr. G. N. Ruhne, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, discussed the value of fertilizers in soil conservation and said that they should not be regarded as temporary measures, but as a permanent factor in preserving the fertility of the soil. These scientists have added their warnings to those of many other agriculturalists and geologists who are constantly drawing attention to the need for continued action in the matter of soil conservation. Much is now being done through the P.P.R.A., Dominion, and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, and agricultural organizations, but it is clear that the problem is one of which each farmer should be thoroughly aware, and in which he should co-operate in every possible way with those who are endeavoring to solve it.

FUNNY And OTHERWISE

The minister had come to call and was holding the small boy of the house on his lap.

"So you can count, eh?" he said to the youngster. "Well, let's hear you do it."

The lad met his request with alacrity: "One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, jack, queen, king."

An attendant in an Aberdeen cinema had to read a ten-syllable note. She took it to the manager.

Later the following notice was screed:

"A 10s note has been found in cinema. Will the owner please queue up at the box office at 10 a.m. tomorrow?"

Doctor—"You are suffering from indigestion. Drink a glass of hot water every morning."

Patient (star boarder)—"I have been doing that for months, doctor, only my belly calls it coffee."

Patient (in waiting room of doctor's office): "How do you do?"

Second Patient: "So-so. I'm aching from neuritis."

First Patient: "Glad to meet you. I'm Mendelbaum from Chicago."

A certain minister, while preaching, said that every blade of grass was a sermon. The next day he was amusing himself by mowing his lawn when a country yokel passing shouted: "That's right vicar, cut your sermon short."

"Where's your husband?" asked a friend who dropped by.

"Just walk down to the bridge," the wife replied cautiously, and look around until you find a pole with a worm on each end."

Irate Guest—"Look here, the rain is simply pouring through the roof of my bedroom."

Smart Hotel Proprietor—"Absolutely according to our prospectus, sir, running water in every room."

The cop noticed the man coming down the street in a barrel. "Look here, fellow," the officer said: "What's the idea of the barrel? Are you a poker player?"

"No, sir," the man replied. "But I spent a couple of hours with some guys who are."

"Eternity is so vast—that you can comprehend it?" said the speaker. "I am a woman who has never had her name was searching through her purse in a public telephone booth when a diamond bracelet and two diamond rings dropped from her bag."

She got as far as Niagara Falls. On, before noticing her loss and having to return home, she had to pay the hotel. In the meantime, a guest, giving his name as Jack Bell of Toronto turned the gems into a room clerk. She left a $10 reward for bell.

Calgary's Pet Freak Is Two-Headed Trout

CALGARY.—A two-headed spined trout raised in the hatcheries of a Calgary brewery continues to baffle its attendants—even if it is living on borrowed time.

Now 12 months old the pet freak is expected to continue to live the normal life span of an ordinary trout.

The fish rests and swims with one head and though it is not as agile and swift as a normal trout, it is able to get about with fair facility. Although the second head is not used by the fish for eating, it has eyes and breathes normally.

Attendants feed the fish on small crappie fry and because it is taking life so easily—no competition at meal times.

If the fish were to be placed with other fish the same size or larger than itself they would kill it. On the other hand if it were placed with smaller fish than itself it would kill them.

To avoid such a happening the attendants have exiled the fish to a trough where it lives in solitary grandeur.

This type of "freak fish" while comparatively rare, does appear in the fry stage now and again, but generally never reaches the age of size of the present one.

Woman Tourist Was Very Lucky

A search through her purse for a nickel in a phone booth at a hotel in Fort Erie, Ont., almost cost a visiting American tourist $2,000 in jewelry. The woman who happened to overhear her name was searching through her purse in a public telephone booth when a diamond bracelet and two diamond rings dropped from her bag.

She got as far as Niagara Falls. On, before noticing her loss and having to return home, she had to pay the hotel. In the meantime, a guest, giving his name as Jack Bell of Toronto turned the gems into a room clerk. She left a $10 reward for bell.

THE TILLERS

Indians Want More Pay At Stampede

CALGARY.—Many people who still think of Indians as living in teepees and wearing feathered headdresses were considerably jarred at the commercial attitude they adopted toward the Calgary Stampede. They asked for a pay increase.

Representatives of the Blackfoot, Stony and Sarcee tribes in a formal resolution asked that the prize list be doubled for best dressed Indians, parade participants and Indian races. Teepee grants should be raised from $100 to $200 a day.

The resolution was signed by such colorful figures as Head Chief Duck, Chief Many Bears and John Powderface.

During the recent stampede, Indians received $1 a head for events in which they participated, while the chiefs received $5. They also were paid for competing in horse races and were given a freight allowance.

Each day they received 1,000 pounds of fresh meat, 500 pounds of bread and tea and sugar as required.

Hay was provided for the 100 horses they brought along. In addition they received cash prizes and other gifts from commercial institutions and individuals.

Some officials estimated that the total cost of keeping the Indian tribes in Calgary for Stampede week was approximately $4,000. However, the tribes feel they have "helped greatly to raise the show to its present high standard" and they should share in increased net profit.

Famous Singer's Father Showed Good Judgment

In the heyday of her fame, Mary Garden, the opera singer, poured out her wealth lavishly. She was particularly generous with her father, but, it is said, he had no money to burn much more than he had, and he was always asking for more. Nevertheless she did not question his wants, but gave him all the money he desired. Came the great stock market debacle. Wiped out his fortune, Garden applied to her father for aid. He strenuously refused. The singer was deeply disappointed, but she managed to weather the storm. A few years later her father passed away, leaving nothing behind except a small sum of money.

He had saved every dollar Mary Garden had bestowed upon him, and bequeathed it to her. He had often begged her to save her money in her days of prosperity, but she had disregarded his plea, so he had saved her money for her!

Sentence Was Cut By Weatherman

GREEN BAY, Wisconsin.—Complaints were numerous when a weatherman at Green Bay, Wisconsin, was convicted as a burglar.

Smart Hotel Proprietor—"Absolutely according to our prospectus, sir, running water in every room."

The cop noticed the man coming down the street in a barrel.

"Look here, fellow," the officer said: "What's the idea of the barrel? Are you a poker player?"

Nebraska Doctors Have New Theory About Baby's Food

CHICAGO.—Junior at six weeks is old enough to start eating meat, if you are guided by two Nebraska physicians who report successful results.

Dr. Ruth M. Leverton of Lincoln, Neb., and Dr. George Clark, Omaha, authored an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association claiming that infants should be fed meat, instead of cereal, as a concentrate source of high quality feeding.

Some officials estimated that the total cost of keeping the Indian tribes in Calgary for Stampede week was approximately $4,000. However, the tribes feel they have "helped greatly to raise the show to its present high standard" and they should share in increased net profit.

During the recent stampede, Indians received $1 a head for events in which they participated, while the chiefs received $5. They also were paid for competing in horse races and were given a freight allowance.

Each day they received 1,000 pounds of fresh meat, 500 pounds of bread and tea and sugar as required.

A SURER WAY

Sir Thomas Lipton tells a humorous story of a Scotman who went to a race meeting for the first time in his life. The old man's friends persuaded him to risk sixpence on a small bet to one chance.

With much suspicion the Scotsman handed over the sixpence, and strange to relate, the horse won.
When the bookmaker handed a sovereign and sixpence to Sandy, the latter could not believe his own eyes.

"Do you mean to tell me I get all my for my sixpence?" he said.

"You do," replied the bookmaker.

"My conscience!" exclaimed Sandy.
"Tell me, men, how long has this thing been going on?"

Enough Sandy had "greenhorn's luck" and "picked the winner" on his first venture, he might not do so again in 99 times out of 100, as those who "follow the porches" could truthfully tell him. The man who wants to place this "expenses" on a "sure thing" should investigate the Canad-

how much does it cost
to keep your family?

Caring for his family in the way it deserves takes much of a man's effort.

But the cost of adequately providing for your loved ones would be just about the same, even if you were not here.

viding policyholders with low cost life insurance.

ian Government Annuities system.
Canadians appear to have concluded that speculation is not the best way to accumulate something for the inevitable rainy day. More and more people are buying annuities. To illustrate, the growth in volume in Annuity Contracts being dealt with at present, it may be stated that in the first six months for the fiscal year 1946 exceed $46,000,000. More than 150,000 annuities were contracted for up to the end of 1946.

All monies paid for the purchase of annuities accumulate at 4% compound interest which debuts in 17.06 years. Further, there is no income tax on the interest earned. The Government has arranged that vestiges may apply Re-establishment Credit on the purchase of Government Annuities.

Dominion Government Annuities is the only plan that will enable you to spend your savings as well as the interest they earn as long as you live without your income becoming smaller.
Your security is absolute, for behind this investment are the resources of the whole of the Dominion of Canada.

To many young people today have a narrow philosophy of saving which is best illustrated by this little story. The young son of the family was asking his father, "Papa, would you be glad if I save a dollar for you?"
"Yes, of course, my son," his father encouraged him. "Well, I have saved
it for you already," the boy replied.
"You said if I brought home a first-class report, from my teacher this week you would give me a dollar, and I didn't bring it." Unfortunately, this represents some young people's idea of thrift and saving. A Government Annuity would change this viewpoint.

"Grandma, what kind of a husband would you advise me to get?"

"My advice is to leave the husband alone and get yourself a single man."

SHE CALLED THE SCORE
Then there was the boy who called his girlfriend "Baseball" because she wouldn't play without a diamond.

Lipstick—smacking which merely adds flavor to the old romance.

The doctors, after much consultation, had decided that, after 20 years in the mental home, Mr. Blank was fit to be released.

On the morning of his release, Mr.
Blank was allowed to shave himself instead of having to submit to the attention of the barber in the home.
Turning to address a remark to one of the attendants who had come to wish him goodbye, his razor caught the string which supported the shaving mirror, which fell to the ground.

When Mr. Blank tried to go on with his shave he looked at the blank wall.

"Well," he said, with a sigh, "if that isn't just my luck. After 20 years in this place, on the very day I'm going to be let out, I've cut my head off!"

ARRANGEMENTS FOR EM- PLOYMENT OF NEW WOODS WORKERS COMPLETE

Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour announced today that all arrangements have been completed for the employment of the 725 woods workers from the displaced persons' camps in Germany, who arrived in Halifax on Thursday.

These men, who volunteered to come to Canada to help meet a shortage of woods workers here, are travelling by special trains to woods operations in Northern Ontario. About half of them will be employed in the Port Arthur District, and the remainder north of Sault Ste. Marie. These men will be housed in existing woods camps which are being inspected to insure that living conditions are satisfactory. They will receive the going wages and will be employed under the same general conditions
as regular Canadian workers.

Of the total, 325 are from displaced camps in the British occupied zone of Germany, and the remainder from similar camps in the United States zone. Before selection, all applications were assembled at central points in each of these zones where the Canadian Selection Team consisting of Immigration and Labour officials assisted by representatives of the woods industry interviewed each of them individually.

In all cases the selection team found the men were most eager to come to Canada which, they stated, was at the top of the priority list of the countries where displaced persons are now going.

The largest single group, Mr.
Mitchell stated, consists of men from the Baltic Countries. There is also a considerable number of Poles with smaller numbers from numerous other countries. Their ages ranging from 19 to 41, with most of them under 35.

Mr. George V. Haythorne who is in charge of agriculture and woods work for the Department of Labour and Mrs. A. H. Heaps of the Unemployment Insurance Commission who assisted in the selection of these men, have recently returned from Germany. They both report that those who have just arrived as well as the others now being interviewed, are all looking forward to their employment on woods operations in Canada. Many have been employed recently in woods work in Germany and Austria.

Practically all of the others have had experience previously in one type of woods employment or another.

THE ALGEBRA OF MUSIC

(By Eddie Arrol)

A Used Book dealer wouldn't pay a nickel for it. But to our family the Theory of Music is priceless for the memories of tears, headaches—and triumphs it brings.

Praised and going beyond recognition, the music book will some day have a prominent place on the family book shelf in Ontario. Today, however, it is still doing duty in Vancouver after service in Alberta and Ontario, with no sufficient date in sight!

Mother brought the pocket-sized music text—seven and one-half years ago for about a dollar in Edmonton, when we lived north of there at Bon Accord, Alberta. The color, like the binding and the front and back pages, disappeared years ago.

A sister, Pauline, cracked the binding to pass a grade one exam when she was ten years and three weeks old. Five months later she learned enough from it to pass a grade two exam. Then brother Ian won honors in a grade two theory exam by it when he was 13.

The first thing the youngest did when the book was handed down to her was to proudly write, "Eddie's book" on an inside page. With this friendship so established she went on at eleven and one-half years of age to win first class honors in her grade two exams.

Yvonne Beiles, a high school student taking senior year, coached the family through on a March 18 at fifty cents a lesson, after passing her own grade one exam the previous month.

Keeping one academic jump ahead of the family, Mrs. Beiles passed her grade two exam in June and taught more lessons the following Fall. Then the family moved south in Alberta to Blairmore and the theory book came with us.

There we bought another edition of the same book. The new one didn't last long for I tore it with frenzied delight after writing a grade three exam. And passed the exam, too.

As white pages towards the end of the original Theory of Music book became crumpled, the rudiments of harmony became household knowledge. Nights in the kitchen Mother would drill the girls in Italian and French musical terms for further examinations.

Two MacPherson children, Peggy and Fraser, then borrowed the text for their Royal Schools of Music exam.

Early this year the text book took a trip to Vancouver where its contents are still being put to a severe test. The pupil is a young outdoor enthusiast and 1946 University of McGill graduate who came here for his health, and to work. He had sinus trouble, and an injured back from canoeing last summer in Montreal but theory of music as seen through his mathematical eyes made him forget sickness.

At first he memorized the scales and the number of sharps and flats in each. Then he tackled the melody's major and minor chords and scales, and worked out relationships between these based on the number of vibrations each note had.

Studying music also helped him pull through an operation recently when he had some bone removed from his nose. In his hospital cot he checked music facts with highest mathematics, and even brought trigonometry into the experiment. In every case the little theory book was right.

Today he takes the theory book to work and the home made covers of cardboard and sewing machine stitched binding holds the pages in order. Lastly, it accompanies him on mountain trips and he glances at the theory book when he stops for a breathing spell. No visit to the Beach is complete without a theory book within easy reach.

When he has learned all the theory of music the book can teach him, he will take piano lessons, but not before. Then the text will return home until it is called out to please or please another hopeful musician.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

Saturday Night

By MARIÓN BOUCHER

PATSY was worried. When one is sixteen, pert, blonde and definitely whittle bait and one hasn't a date on Saturday night, it's a serious matter. "The secret of it," she thought, "had been so sure Jim Raine meant to take her out. Hadn't he asked her the other day what she was doing on Saturday night? And when Patsy had answered, 'I'm going to get married,' he said, 'I'm going to see you,' he hid his gaiety, "I'll be seeing you then."

It was as good as a date and Patsy had been secretly triumphant over it. All the girls agreed that Jim was the smoothest boy in college, even though he did seem rather indifferent to their charms.

When her parents had left, Patsy went upstairs, changed into the white skirt and gay blouse. She carefully applied more lipstic and combed her hair again. She could hear Bob splashing and whistling in the bathroom, and soon he went out too. The house was maddeningly quiet—on the phone was quiet.

Patsy wandered aimlessly down stairs and turned on the radio. Dance music filled the room and then a girl's voice mocked her:

"Saturday night is the loneliest night in the week..." Patsy shut off the radio.

She looked anxiously at the clock—it was after eight now. What would she do all evening, if Jim didn't call? She didn't dare phone Jim—it would be too humiliating to confess that she was sitting at home alone again. Bended Leila had said she was going roller-skating with Davy Low.

Patsy picked up a magazine but found that she couldn't concentrate on what she was reading. She tossed it aside and went to the window. Couples strolled by, talking and laughing in the June night. It was almost more than she could bear—everyone seemed to be out having a good time, except herself.

It was really a man's world, Patsy thought bitterly. Look at all the brothers! He didn't care to wait—and one to ask him out. But she was a girl and had to accept her fate. Oh it wasn't fair!

Patsy was on the verge of tears when the doorbell rang. She leaped up. Could it be...? Yes...it was Jim!

"Hi, Pat!" He was a little out of breath. "I was afraid you wouldn't be home. There was a two-for-one sale at the store and I had to work late this evening—couldn't get around any sooner. How about going to the movies?"

"I really didn't care to go out tonight, Jim." She succeeded in sounding very indifferent. "But...well...yes, a show would be fine."

"Sorry I didn't phone you, but we were so busy." Her brother would have wouldn't let me, we were so busy."

Patsy hummed a little tune as she waited for her coat. All was right with the world once more: it was Saturday night and she had a date!

(2 eggs or 3 egg yolks)

2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour

1 1/2 teaspoon soda

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING
IN EASY STAGES

(By Dalton Edwards in Astounding Stories Magazine)

We are in complete accord with Bernard Shaw's campaign for a simplified alphabet. But instead of immediate drastic legislation, we advocate a modified plan.

In 1947, for example, we would urge the substituting of "s" for soft "c". Serainly students in all cities of the land would be responsive to this.

In 1948 the hard "c" would be replaced by "k", since both letters are pronounced identically. Not only would this clarify the confusion in the minds of spellers, but typewriters and linotypes could all be built with one less letter and all the manpower and materials previously devoted to making "c" could be used to raise the national standard of living.

In the subsequent blaze of publicity, it would be announced that the troublesome "ph" would henceforth be written "f". This would make words like "phonograph" 20 percent shorter in print.

By 1949 public interest in a four-letter alphabet could be expected to have reached a point where more radical procedures are indicated. We would urge at that time the elimination of all double-letters which have always been a nuisance and decided deterrent to accurate spelling.

We would also agree that the horrible mess of silent "e's" in our language is disgraceful. Therefor, in 1951 we would drop them and continue to read and write merely along as though we were in an atomik age of education. Since by this time it would be four years since anywun had used the letter "e", we would then suggest substituting "c" for "th".

Continuing this process year after year, we would eventually have a real sensible written language. By 1975 we vantur to say cer wud no mor vices terribl trublism difficultis. Even Mr. Shaw wu beliv wud be hapi in ce neleg ca his drama finali kam tru.

...so Mary
will take up nursing
after all

IT LOOKED for a while as if a temporary financial problem in the family might keep Mary from finishing "High". If she had to quit school to help the family income that would have meant good-bye to her hopes of becoming a nurse.

But here she is, starting her final year. Did her Dad suddenly come into some money?

No... and yes. He consulted his bank manager, who told him how the bank, through personal loans, often helped people to meet just such situations. Arrangements were made, and now Mary will take up nursing after all.

In 1946 Canada's banks made half a million personal loans to Canadian men and women.

THIS IS ONE INSTANCE of how Canada's 3,200 branch banks play their part in the daily life and work of Canadians.

GRANDMA'S REMEDIES

A wise old scientist once counselled me, "Never despise or dismiss an old wives' tale or spurn their remedies", says a writer in the London News Chronicle. Remember they usually have the sanction of the centuries. Instead of rejecting time-honored infusions as a kind of ju-ju, scientists are beginning to examine them for their properties.

Vegetable tonics, for instance, have fallen out of favor in the days of man-made drugs, but an investigation has recently been made into herbs and medical plants to find how much thiamine they contain. Thiamine is one of the Vitamin B family, and a deficiency of it causes loss of appetite, fatigue, stomach disorders and a lowering of blood pressure. And those, of course, are just the "run down" conditions for which the "wise women" and the old-fashioned family doctor gave a vegetable pick-me-up.

Guess what was up? Right, first time! Buchu, caraway, camomile, dandelion, gentian, thyme and white cinnamon were all rich sources of thiamine.

STRICKLY HYGIENIC

June (a bride) was showing her Uncle over their new home.

"This is my room, Uncle; you see we have twin beds; they are so much more hygienic. That's Harold's, this one mine."

Then uncle noticed a blue Telechron clock on the mantle shelf and remarked, "What a charming little clock."

"Yes," said June, "it's a wedding present from Aunt Emily."

A few days later uncle received a note from June telling how the blue Telechron clock had disappeared the very afternoon he was there; could he throw any light on it?

Uncle replied: "Dear June, look in Harold's bed."
